

Team leaders are gathering around to talk with the entrepreneur about how to lead the team, manage time, and win the game.

I assigned tasks to teammates: I was working on building the App, while two of them discussing economic implications, and the rest were filling up business plans.

We won the third prize, as can be shown by the background slide.